

Bruce Dutra – Biography

Bruce Dutra has taught courses in business ethics and other areas of philosophy for over 25 years in college and universities in Indiana, Michigan, and New Jersey. He was Professor of Philosophy at Mott Community College in Flint, Michigan for 16 years; following this, he moved back to his home state of New Jersey and served, for three years, as Dean of the School of Liberal Arts at County College of Morris in Randolph. For the past four years he has taught classes at Rowan University and is currently in his first year as a student at Rutgers Law School—Camden.

Bruce has presented works in philosophy and ethics at many conferences across the United States. His interests are wide-ranging and include music (especially classic soul and R&B), old movies, and sports. He lives in Vineland with his wife, two stepsons, and two loving but demanding cats.