

Dan Kaplan Biography

Dan Kaplan is driven by the belief that anything is possible if we can just learn to talk to each other. As a mountain-climbing expedition leader, Dan has guided many teams through difficult conversations and high-altitude danger.

Combined with his nearly 30 years of communications leadership experience across the public, non-profit, and private sectors, his firm, Confident Communicators, LLC helps leaders, managers, and teams communicate. Dan is an Everything DiSCR Authorized Provider and Certified Trainer. His clients include Google, The Gates Foundation, The State of Maryland, US FDA, Chimes International, Maryland Physicians Care, The Montgomery County Police Department, The Loggerhead Marine Life Center, New York Health+Hospitals, and Vistage.

He lives in Baltimore with his wife and three children and in his spare time climbs mountains, raising money for cancer research.
