

Megan Knowlton Balne, a partner with Hyland Levin Shapiro, concentrates her practice in the areas of employment, counseling and business litigation with a focus on employment litigation. Megan brings a distinctive blend of advocacy, strategy, and client connection to her litigation practice. Drawn to the law as a way to merge her background in theater and history, Megan found litigation to be a natural outlet for research, storytelling, and persuasive public speaking. Over time, her practice has evolved to include a strong focus on employment law, alongside litigation, allowing her to balance courtroom advocacy with proactive counseling for business clients.