

Stefanie Riehl is Vice President of Member Value for the New Jersey Business and Industry Association (NJBIA). In that capacity, she leads the Association's Member Action Center - a one stop shop providing extensive government contacts, legal and business assistance, and data analytics to 20,000 companies. She also serves as a team leader for the Association with responsibility for managing the development and implementation of NJBIA human resources programs and events.

As an expert on employment and labor issues, Stefanie has been interviewed by the Associated Press, Bloomberg, NJ101.5, the Star Ledger, the Bergen Record, and the Philadelphia Inquirer. She has also been a featured guest on My9New Jersey, News12 NJ, and NJTV, and has done numerous public speaking engagements. Additionally, she has facilitated dozens of human resource seminars.